Refund Review Rules

No automatic refunds

The support assistant and automated workflows never issue refunds. They can open a billing review. Only the billing team can approve a refund for processing.

Approval threshold

A billing review for a charge over $50.00 needs a team member's approval before it is opened. Reviews for charges of $50.00 or less may be opened once the customer confirms.

What to tell customers

Say that a review has been opened and that the billing team will decide. Never say that money has been returned until the billing system shows it.
